TMA Resources and Boxwood Technology Announce New Partnership

VIENNA, Va. (Thursday, July 5, 2008) – TMA Resources, the leader in member-centric software today announced a new member of the TMA Resources Partner Advantage Program. Boxwood Technology, a provider of provider of online career centers for associations has joined as a Solution Partner. The partnership will provide customers with a standard integration between TMA Resources' association management software (AMS) Personify, and Boxwood's online career center solution.

The new product, Boxwood for Personify uses Personify APIs and Web services, Boxwood will build an out-of-the-box integration, which will be repeatable across a wide array of customer implementations. The integration will allow associations to effortlessly exchange information between Personify and Boxwood's job site technology. The integration will allow single sign-on between both systems and it will allow job posting information to be written back to Personify.

“We welcome Boxwood Technology to the partner program,” said Edi Dor, TMA Resources, President & CEO. He continued, “Boxwood's career center technology will
